Water Management District wins condemnation case for Everglades cleanup

The South Florida Water Management District, on Monday, won a legal victory they say will control costs for Everglades cleanup.

A jury of 12 citizens ruled that the district could acquire a 1,463-acre piece of land for just above its market value. The property owners argued for much more.

In February, the district took control of the property in Palm Beach County just west of Wellington, pursuant to a quick-take procedure. The land is to be used for the development of Stormwater Treatment Area 1-East for Everglades cleanup.

A valuation trial followed, beginning on Sept. 17, to determine the land's fair price. The district argued for a fair market price of $10 million. The former owners argued for at least $18 million. The difference was based on different views regarding the potential to get the land use changes necessary to develop the property as a residential subdivision with a density of about 1.5 units per acre, and the economic viability of such a development, if the land use changes were made. The permitted land use at the time of the taking was agricultural, and one residential unit per 10 acres.

The verdict came in at $11 million. District officials say this price validated their view that subdivision-type residential development west of Wellington is not likely in the foreseeable future.

"The district is pleased," said Bill Malone, director of the district's construction and land management department. "Thousands of acres of land must be acquired for the Everglades Project. The critical issue on many parcels is the extent to which future development is feasible. This verdict should help resolve that."

Work progressing on juvenile detention center in Pahokee

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

An Advisory Board of the Pahokee Youth Development Center met with officials of the Correctional Services Corporation Monday night to discuss the new facility which is scheduled to open in January of 1997.

Director of Project Management, Ramon Horta, said the work is slightly behind schedule, but still projects the opening for the first week in January.

"We're excited about this and we want the community to welcome this," said Horta, who is also the mayor of Pahokee. "Educating the community on the benefits of the 350-bed, medium security center for youth ages 14-18 is the key," says Mayor Horta. He said having the facility outside the hub of the city and away from homes has been a plus.

He said the advisory committee will be beneficial in helping to enhance the image of the facility since it is made up of local residents who care about the city.

School Principal for the center, Louis Robison said citizens can feel comfortable having this facility near them. "You can take this to the bank. This will be one of the safest facilities around," Mr. Robison has 18 years in education and has taught at the college, high school and junior high levels.

Facility Administrator Michael Higgins told the board

They had a party at Great Lakes Chemicals on Saturday. They were celebrating their 30th Anniversary with an open house, tours of the plant, a luncheon, band, games and rides for the children.

Plant Manager Doug Royster said, "We're glad to be here in this community and we hope to be here another 30 years."

Mr. Royster added, "We wouldn't be here without our employees," and recognized several who have worked at the plant for the entire 30 years. Those recognized for 30 years of service included James C. Barton, Charles R. Teele, Charles M. Hyslop, Ralph L. Codrington and Dennis Hester.

Employees and guests enjoyed a day which included a buffet luncheon. Guests were given tours of the plant, which is located just behind Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative. They extract furfural from the sugar cane "bagasse" which is the sugar cane fiber from which the sugar has been removed.

Great Lakes obtains the bagasse from the cooperative, and from other sugar mills in the area. Great Lakes provides excess steam and solid residue to the cooperative for use in its sugar production operations.

Great Lakes' furfural is incorporated into a wide range of products, including pharmaceuticals, medical tubing and other plastics, nylon, industrial and sport wheels and belts, fragrances, and flavorings.

Correction:

In last week's Sept. 26 issue of The Sun, there was a misrepresentation written in the front page article regarding the Lifebuilders organization.

First, The Lifebuilders organization does not want recognition for the work they do, the group wants to give Christ recognition for the work and the talents He has given these men to accommodate His work within the community and in the world.

Second, Paul Allen is not the founder of The Lifebuilders organization, he is the President. Third, The Lifebuilders organization is open to all Christian men, and encourage men from different ethnic groups to join. If anyone has any questions regarding Lifebuilders, please feel free to call (561) 996-0508. The Sun staff apologizes to The Lifebuilders for our errors.

Florida has had a ton of luck

By Mike Lyons

There is an old Yiddish proverb that suggests it is better to have an ounce of luck than a pound of gold. It seems that during this hurricane season folks around here have had a ton of luck.

Florida has been teased by four hurricanes this summer - Bertha, Edouard, Fran and Hortense. Yet, all four times, luck has been on our side.

All of us have stared down the barrel at a hurricane bullet this summer. But, each time, the gun either misfired or the bullet missed its mark.

We've been very lucky but other folks have not been as fortunate. Just ask anyone in the Carolina's, Puerto Rico or the Dominican Republic.

Our stretch of good fortune began in early July when Bertha developed in the eastern Atlantic Ocean. Bertha became the first storm in recorded history to form so far from shore, so early in the season. Within a few days, this weak tropical depression had matured into a powerful Category Four hurricane.

Thankfully, Bertha steered clear of the Lesser Antilles, Puerto Rico and Hispaniola. But, it was apparent that the east coast of the United States was not going to be as fortunate. The only question seemed to be where would she make landfall.

At first, it appeared that Bertha was taking aim at our part of Florida. But, luck was on our side. Bertha turned to the North passing less than 500 miles from our coastline. Within a few days, the storm hit South Carolina causing millions of dollars in damage.

About a month later, we were under the gun again as powerful Hurricane Edouard moved toward the Sunshine State. Yet, again, the storm turned to the North, missing Florida. Edouard teased most of the eastern seaboard before making a glancing blow at

New England.

Edouard was gone but now it was Hurricane Fran's turn to make some news. Like Bertha and Edouard before her, Fran was a Category Four hurricane with winds over 131 mph. And, just like her cousins, Fran threatened Florida before eventually turning away and moving toward the Carolina's. Fran slammed into North Carolina producing close to $1 billion dollars in damage.

Hortense was next, but before she could torment us this hurricane left a path of destruction through the Caribbean. Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic experienced some of their worst flooding in years.

Many hurricane forecasters thought Hortense had a good chance of striking Florida because she started out further south than Bertha, Edouard or Fran. Yet, Hortense made that big turn to the North avoiding Florida, and, as it turned out, the United States.

Four big hurricanes. Four clear misses. Four times we were very, very lucky. Of course, the only sure thing about luck is that it will eventually change.

Diabetes and alcohol do not mix

By Paula Swaford, RN

Everyone who you turn, at sports events, family gatherings, social get-togethers, and parties, alcohol has become an acceptable offering. If you are diabetic you must ask yourself three important questions before choosing to partake of an alcoholic beverage:

1. In my diabetes under control? Are my blood sugars within an acceptable range? Did I test my sugar today?

2. Does my doctor agree that I am free from health problems that alcohol can make worse - for example, diabetic nerve damage or high blood pressure?

3. Do I know how alcohol can affect me and my diabetes? If you said "yes" to all three, it's okay to have an occasional drink. What does occasional mean? The American Diabetes Association suggests that you have no more than two drinks a day.

We all know that alcohol moves very quickly into the blood without being broken down or metabolized in your stomach. Within five minutes of having a drink, there's enough alcohol in your blood to measure. Thirty to 90 minutes after having a drink, the alcohol in your bloodstream is at its highest level.

The liver has been assigned the task of breaking down the alcohol once it's in your body, but it needs time to do that. If you weigh 150 pounds, it will take about two hours to metabolize one beer or mixed drink. If you drink faster than your liver can break it down, the excess alcohol moves through the bloodstream to other parts of your body. Brain cells are easy targets. When someone talks about getting a "buzz" from alcohol, this is what they are feeling.

If you have diabetes and take insulin shots or oral diabetes pills, you risk low blood sugar when you drink alcohol. To protect yourself, never drink on an empty stomach. Plan to have your drink with a meal or after eating a snack that contains protein, fat or both. So how does alcohol add to your chances of having low blood glucose? It has to do with the liver. Normally, when your blood glucose level starts to drop, your liver steps in. It goes to work to change the stored carbohydrates into glucose. Then it sends the glucose out into the blood, which helps you avoid or slow down a low blood glucose reaction.

However, when alcohol enters your system, this all changes. Alcohol is a toxin. Your body reacts to alcohol like a poison. The liver wants to clear it from the blood quickly. In fact, the liver won't put out glucose again until it has taken care of the alcohol. If you drink as little as two ounces of alcohol (about two drinks) on an empty stomach it can lead to very low blood glucose. If you take oral hypoglycemic pills beware of drinking. Alcohol changes how these pills work and makes the pills stronger and longer-lasting, thereby leading to very low sugars.

As far as your diet is concerned, alcohol is considered an "empty" calorie, or one that does not provide the body with any nutrients. Light beer and dry wines are the best choices as they have less alcohol and carbohydrates, and fewer calories. Even non-alcoholic drinks are not calorie free and must be added to your overall amount of calories ingested daily.

Not to put a damper on your day, but take fair warning, if you are diabetic or know someone who is, alcohol is poison to the system. Remember to ask yourself those three questions before you drink and maybe, just maybe, you'll choose not to drink alcohol at all.

Until next time...stay

Safe Alternatives For Fighting Lice

(NU) - When a lice infestation hits your house, be prepared with information. Don't panic and use the "atom bomb" approach. It's easy to think that more treatment is better, but that's probably not the case. In fact, you may actually be doing more harm than good.

The correct approach:
• Kill the lice. It usually takes two treatments of over-the-counter product about a week apart.

• Remove the nits. Complete removal of remaining eggs is made easier through the use of an enzymatic lice egg remover and a lice comb.

• Stay lice-free. That includes hot-water washing and drying of linens, towels and personal items, thorough vacuuming of all exposed areas, and soaking combs and brushes in hot water.

What doesn't help is overdoing the use of lice treatments. Eggs less than 5 to 6 days old are untreatable. That's why a second treatment is required after a week.

Experts recommend against spraying. Neither the National Pediculosis Association nor the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommend using household sprays for lice.

The makers of Clear lice egg remover have a free brochure to help you understand the safe way to manage a head lice infestation. Call 1-800-783-1919 for your copy.

Too much traveling

I would like to know why Wackenhut, who is opening a new facility in Pahokee and also a prison in South Bay, makes people drive all the way to Avon Park for the class.

Why don't they offer the class here in the Glades? I would like for Mayor Anthony to address this problem because he fought so hard to get the prison here. I would like for him to fight just as hard to get a class here. Why not use Palm Beach Community College, West Technical Education Center, the old Glades Central, or the old Pahokee High?

I don't think it's right that we should have to ride all the way to Avon Park for a class when the facilities are here in the Glades.

Thank you.

Editor's note: We spoke with Mayor Anthony. He said he tried very hard to get the classes locally but was unable. He said he will continue to pursue efforts to have classes closer to home.

Exodus to the coast

"Don't we loyal and local Belle Glade residents enjoy recent articles such as: 'Wellington considers stiff ethnic standards' as published in the September 24, Palm Beach Post.

Words such as "witch hunt", even popped up. With so many of our community's citizens recently fleeing to Wellington, I'm amused that they're all concerned about ethics. The Howdy-Doody type for the boomers!

Thank you.

Penny-a-pound tax is unfair

"I was just reading in the paper where they decided to put the penny-a-pound tax on the ballot. If this penny-a-pound tax passes, what the people involved in the sugar industry should do is put a suit on Key West and all those other places down there that don't even have septic tanks. They should force them to put in city sewage down in through there.

That's where the biggest part of the pollution is coming from is from the development of houses, yet they want to blame everyone else."

Judge not, lest you be judged

To the pastors of our community: I do not think the pastors of our churches should be boycotting any one business, no matter what kind of putting newspaper articles of that sort out.

If the pastors would take care of their assigned churches and chores, visitation, church trips, seminars, they would have plenty to do.

It is not their place to judge a person or that person's business. They sure don't refuse the businesses money or donations. Only God can judge anyone.

Pastors, clean up your own act and pray God will forgive you for your not-so-holy act. When you have Sunday School classes and church services, pray with your church about these things you do not approve at the church, not all people believe one way.

That is our American right. Do not judge, lest you be judged and we are not under dictatorship yet in this country.

Don't claim these to be Christian acts that you are doing, because a good Christian does not get out there and criticize other people, he tries to lead them in the right direction without condemning."

We the people

"This is addressed to Commissioner Bythwood. There is no such animal as a "white section," or "white park" in the City of Belle Glade. It is "the people" of Belle Glade.

Thank you."

The times they are a changing

I just want to voice my opinion to the person who called about Spanish being taught at Gove on Sept. 19. The idea that she said "migrant children, the schools are so full of them." The schools are also full of other cultures also and the children being taught Spanish is very good. I am the mother of two who are Chicano and for her to say that Spanish shouldn't be taught to us "white Americans," that is not right.

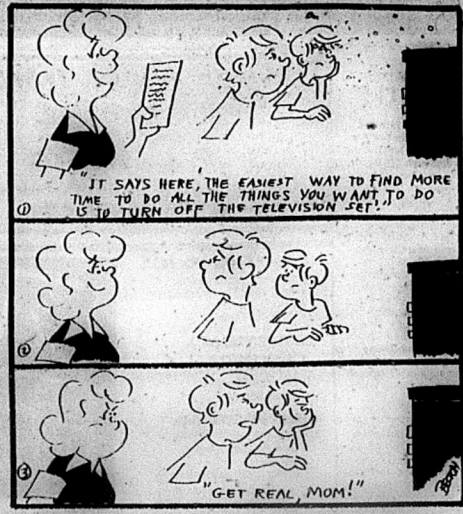

I feel that Spanish should be taught, just as English should be taught to the Spanish speakers, and that is happening. The children have ESOL classes that speak Spanish only to speak English and if she would go into the schools and pay more attention, she would see that not only are American children learning Spanish, but the Spanish speaking children are learning English. I think this is a great thing the schools are doing when they teach children two languages.

Not only will it benefit them now, to be able to speak with other children of other cultures, but it will also benefit them when they are adults and they are looking for jobs. Employers are looking for people who can speak two languages; because in the United States, in this day and time, there are different cultures. To be able to deal with the different cultures, you have to be able to speak their language.

I think it's great. I'm a white American and I speak English and Spanish and it has made it easier for me on my job. Whenever someone comes in who speaks Spanish I can talk with them and make them feel comfortable. I don't know what this lady or the gentleman is thinking when that say they are the taxpayers having to pay for this. Well, I am a taxpayer and I say go ahead and teach our children as many languages as they can accomplish. There's no problem with it.

Thank you."

Angels found in Belle Glade

Dear Editor:

I would like for you to print a thank you in your paper to two wonderful women who made a big difference in my life. I am ashamed to say it has taken me nearly a month to thank them but I have been helping with the move of our school (PACE Center for Girls, Inc./Glades) and trying to get well at the same time.

On August 22, 1996, I returned to my office after running an errand. When I started walking toward our temporary office I caught my toe and fell head first onto cinder blocks. I was temporarily knocked out but the bites of fire ants woke me up to the beautiful angelic smiling face of Anna Bane, an employee of The Bank of Belle Glade.

Anna helped me get up and start walking toward the building when my second angel arrived by the name of Debbie Cumpston. Debbie got paper towels to stop the blood flowing from my head, loaded me up in her car and transported me to the hospital where she remained until my husband could be reached and he arrived.

It makes me angry when people say bad things about Belle Glade. I have never met such caring and loving people throughout our travels while in the military until we moved to Belle Glade nearly five years ago.

Thank you seems like such small words to say to these two angels of mine, but it is said from the bottom of my heart.

Sincerely,
Shirley A. Farr

Kudos to Redd's Video for pulling pornography

Dear Editor:

I would like to commend Henry Redd of Redd's Video for pulling out the pornography from his video store. Mr. Redd credited the boycott from church-going people as the motivation for this action.

The people of Belle Glade have made a statement to the business owners of video stores that we prefer a family video store. We still have two video stores in town that carry pornography. Therefore we will continue to ask that the people of Belle Glade refrain from using these video stores. We now have two video stores in town that do not carry pornography and you are encouraged to support these stores.

Another form of pornography is the magazines. A number of convenience stores around town carry pornographic magazines. As you shop at these area stores, encourage them to remove their pornographic magazines or inform them that you will be shopping somewhere else.

How to help your child succeed with homework

By Celia B. Elrod

Do any of these situations sound familiar to you? Does your child put off homework until the last minute? Does your child tell you he or she never has time for homework? Or that he or she finishes homework at school every day? Do your child's after-school activities (such as sports, dance or music) interfere with getting homework completed?

Homework is an important part of your child's success at school. Homework teaches a child to be responsible, to follow directions and to work independently. By acquiring these homework skills, your child will be on the road to success.

Because homework is assigned on a consistent basis, it serves as an ongoing link between home and school. Homework is a golden opportunity to involve yourself in a positive way in the success of your child's education, and his or her eventual success in life. There are eight steps to assure that you are doing everything you can to end homework battles.

- It is critical that you stress the importance of homework to your child. Homework is as important as work done during class.
- Set up a proper study area. Any area that is quiet and well lit with few distractions will do.
- Establish a daily homework schedule.
- Motivate your child to do their best.
- Check to see that homework is completed.

- Provide positive support for your child's efforts.
- Back up your words with actions. When ground rules are set about homework it is critical that you hold to your end of the agreement.
- Work with the teacher when there is a problem. Interested in practical solutions to other homework problems? Homework without Tears parent training will give you answers you need to help your child take responsibility for completing homework assignments each day.
- For more information on materials available for check out or to register for Homework without Tears call Family First at 993-4082.

Mrs. Elrod is a Parental Involvement Specialist with the Palm Beach County School Board. She will be writing a column monthly on parental involvement for our readers.

Speak Out

How can this be?

"I was calling in reference to a question I was needing answered. Within the last four to six weeks, a great number of newspaper racks have been stolen from The Sun, The Palm Beach Post and The Miami Herald.

Out of curiosity, even though these racks have been reported to Belle Glade Police Department, Sheriff's Department and the Pahokee Police Department.

I was curious as to how somebody could ride through the City of Belle Glade and Pahokee, Thursday evening, September 26 with some eight to nine racks on the back of a pickup truck, pass a number of sheriff's and city police in Belle Glade and Pahokee and not get pulled over and questioned about them.

Perhaps you could get an answer to this question for me. Thank you."

Editor's response: We im-

mmediately went and checked our rack locations after getting this Speak Out. We too, have suffered a lot of loss because someone is stealing our racks sometime in the night.

We urge anyone who knows anything to call us at 996-4404. We will keep your name confidential, but would appreciate the help of citizens. Representatives for The Palm Beach Post and The Miami Herald have told us they are having the same rash of thefts.

Another view on Spanish taught at Gove Elementary

"I have been reading about the controversy between Spanish and English being taught at Gove Elementary. I believe we are all wanting the best for all children at Gove no matter their nationality. However, what and how should be a concern for all parents in any school, public or private.

It is our responsibility to know what is happening in our schools. Our children are our most important asset. I feel this dual language is important for Spanish speaking students. It gives them the opportunity to hear the lesson in English and then reinforced in their native language. However, English, Hebrew, Creole, Arabic speaking students must also have the opportunity to learn in the environment appropriate for their needs.

Gove provided Spanish last year for 30-45 minutes each week and continues to provide it this year. They also provide French in the after school program.

The issue is not that our children are learning a second language, but the length of time it is being taught is the concern.

The program at Gove, this year, is designed to teach first and second graders English for 3

1/2 hours by an English speaking teacher and the exact lessons are repeated for 3 1/2 hours in Spanish by a Spanish speaking teacher (who is only allowed to speak Spanish during this time.) In addition, these first and second graders are getting an additional 30 minutes to an hour each week depending on the rotation schedule in the Spanish first art's class.

This program will be very beneficial to our Spanish students. Why would a non-Spanish speaking student need this kind of instruction for this length of time?

I am all for my children learning a second language, but, 30-45 minutes each day is enough to accomplish this goal.

In other counties the main language being taught is English and their native language is taught to continue their culture. English is the international language and we must focus on what we want as the outcome for

Rongione/ White to marry

Dana Renee White & Jason E. Rongione

Jason E. Rongione, the son of Edward and Tina Rongione of Belle Glade, is engaged to Miss Dana Renee White of Easley, South Carolina.

The couple plan to marry in the summer of 1997.

Jason is a 1994 graduate of Christian Day School. He is a second year college student at Tabernacle Baptist College in Greenville, S.C., majoring in Theology.

Dana also attends Tabernacle Baptist College, where they met last year.

Unclaimed scholarships available to help students

With election year politics and promises over federal student grant approvals, direct government student loans, tax credits, and changes in college financial aid guidelines, many students are finding it difficult to identify and understand their financial aid options. Unfortunately, many students are missing out on receiving financial assistance that is available to them.

Students taking the traditional path of relying on federal, state, and institutional financial aid and loans are becoming frustrated as they discover they can't afford to pay the increasing dollars they are asked to contribute each year. These extra payments are straining family budgets and assets as many families try to find schooling through burdensome debt.

Yet, unknown to many people, there are over 375,000 non-government scholarship and grant sources available which do not have to be paid back. More than 80% of these scholarship and grant sources available which do not have to be paid back. More than 80% of these scholarships do not depend on family need or exceptional grades but are awarded based on factors such as the student's interests, hobbies, academic focus, age, heritage or parent's work or military service.

Remarkably, according to the National Commission on Student Financial Aid, over $6 billion of assistance goes uncollected each year simply because students are not aware of it and do not apply for it. Now, through the resources of the National Academic Funding Advisory (NAFA), an updated publication for 1996 is available which spells out academic funding guidelines, steps students through the maze of the financial aid process and shows what's needed to secure scholarship assistance.

For information on how to receive academic funding and scholarships send a No. 10 self addressed, double stamped business envelope plus $2.00 to cover handling to NAFA, 815, Middle Street, Dept. A7, Portsmouth, NH 03801.

An Open Letter to the Citizens of our Community. LET'S SET THE RECORD STRAIGHT!

Everglades Regional Medical Center has been serving residents of Pahokee and the surrounding areas for 60 consecutive years.

Since its doors first opened on September 4, 1936, Everglades Regional Medical Center has never closed. Because Everglades cares about the people it serves, it has developed an unusually close relationship with the community and its citizens.

Many area residents were born at Everglades. Still more have been treated there. And we have no doubt that most if not all of the residents look upon Everglades not only as a vital medical facility, but also as a valuable community asset.

Unfortunately, Everglades was the subject of a feature story in the June 30, 1996 issue of the Palm Beach Post that we believe was factually incorrect in a number of instances. We therefore consider it our duty, as a public service to the citizens of our community, and especially to those who have rendered special support to Everglades over these many years, to set the record straight with a response to that story.

The story, titled "Paranoid in Pahokee," not only oversimplified a very complex situation involving Everglades Regional Medical Center in Pahokee, Glades General Hospital in Belle Glade, and the county-wide Health Care District, but it also inferred what we believe were wrong assumptions or conclusions from the information presented.

The main issues discussed in the story were the proposed merger of Everglades and Glades General, who will control the merged services; and the legality of the 1986 reorganization that created the private and nonprofit organization now operating Everglades.

The administrations at Everglades and Glades General have agreed to a plan to merge their services with operational control at the local level. However, the Health Care District refuses to recognize the plan, claiming the Everglades organization created in 1986 is illegal, and that only the public, being that Everglades and Glades General are public hospitals, has the right to reorganize.

The fact is that the two hospitals are indeed owned by the people of the "Glades" who would, under the plan, rightfully retain local control of the merged hospital services. There has never been any suggestion that the nonprofit corporation itself is not a legal entity, only a dispute as to the legitimacy of its authority to continue managing the hospital.

The fact is that the 1986 reorganization was a matter of public record, done so by a public board appointed by the governor of Florida, with all of the discussions leading up to the reorganization conducted at properly noticed public meetings.

A 1992 ruling by the Palm Beach County Circuit Court that the 1986 reorganization was valid, and which was reversed in 1995 by the 4th District Court of Appeal, went ultimately to the Florida Supreme Court. A chronology of events listed in the story states that the Supreme Court upheld the decision that the 1986 reorganization was unconstitutional. In fact, however, the Court made no ruling. The Court chose not to accept the case and it was remanded to Circuit Court for resolution of all the other issues.

The story also states that "because the hospital has operated in private, no outsider has been able to review Everglades' records." The fact is that under 155.40, Florida Statutes, as enacted by the Florida Legislature 12 years ago, some records of a public hospital operated by a nonprofit corporation can be kept "private" and not open for review by everyone.

The purpose of this legislation was to prevent examination of a public hospital's business by for-profit competitors to determine which services could be done profitably by them while leaving the unprofitable services to be done by the public hospital with public tax money subsidies.

But the story is wrong when it claims that "no outsider has been able to review Everglades' records." The fact is that the Health Care District is in possession of all of Everglades' certified and public audits and Medicare costs reports through September, 1995.

Each year, Everglades files audited financial statements with the Palm Beach Health Care District, the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council, and the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA). All of these are public entities whose files and records are open for public inspection. Furthermore, required reports to various Federal and state agencies submitted on a monthly, quarterly, and annual basis have contained financial and operational data of all kinds.

We believe there is also an insinuation of financial mismanagement in the last paragraph of the story, which suggests - without the slightest bit of evidence to back it up - that "something more sinister" may be involved. The story concludes that, "For now, only the accountants know for sure."

Granted, feature stories in a newspaper's editorial section are expressions of opinion rather than the reporting of news. As such, they incorporate and present information in a way so as to influence the reader's support or non-support of a particular issue. We believe that the public has a right to expect that information presented in the form of an opinion should always be based on facts.

We also believe that the public's interest is best served when that information is presented in as much detail as possible. Otherwise, an expressed opinion about an already complex issue may only make the issue more complicated and confuse the reader in the process.

Pahokee trounces Cocoa Beach Minutemen 60-0

By Robbie Everett

The Blue Devils extended their winning streak to 2 games last Friday defeating the Minutemen of Cocoa Beach. On the second possession of the game the Blue Devils started deep in their own territory. James Sneed rushed for 25 yards, setting up a 70 yard touchdown run by Sophomore sensation, quarterback Anquan Boldin.

Anticipating a victory, the excitement continued to build as Anthony Williams charged through a host of Minutemen to pave the way for a Boldin to Richard Bryant 40 yard touchdown pass. Boldin also connected with Bryant on the two point conversion. The first half was 'The Anquan Boldin Show'. He ran the next touchdown on a quarterback keeper. Then, on defense he intercepted a pass and raced 50 yards to the endzone for a touchdown, followed by a run in for the two point conversion. Back on offense, Boldin connected with Joe Graddick for a 50 yard touchdown pass. Richard Bryant ended the half with a 65 yard punt return for a touchdown. The Blue Devils led 40-0 at half-time.

Administrators May Gamble and Eddie Rhodes presented Henry Ware Jr. with the Hometown Hero Award for outstanding performance in the Pahokee vs. Forest Hill game. Henry Ware was joined by his mother, Jeanie Ware, at center field for the presentation.

The second half opened with the Blue Devils forcing a fumble that was recovered by Henry Ware. This possession ended with a 55 yard run by Antonio Newborne for the score. On the next punt return Richard Bryant trotted 80 yards for a touchdown.

The Blue Devils defensive unit kept Cocoa Beach out of Pahokee territory for all but one possession during the evening. After a series of penalties, the Minutemen were threatening to score from the Blue Devils 15 yard line. The defense forced a fumble and Ronald Boldin recovered it. Anthony Williams accounted for the final 8 points of the game with a 25 yard touchdown run and a two point conversion. The Blue Devils are on the road for the next three weeks. They travel to the coast next week to meet the Suncoast Chargers. Their next home game will be against Pope John Paul on Oct. 25 for Homecoming.

Gators bomb Bucs

By Eddie Campbell

Last Friday, the Glades Day Gators (No. 1 in the class 2A state poll) hosted the Benjamin Buccaneers. Host is a nice word to describe what the Gators did to the Bucs on the field. The Gators destroyed Benjamin 40-17 to up the Gators record to 3-0 on the season.

The game was very close throughout the first quarter. The Bucs got on the scoreboard first with a 38 yard field goal with 5:15 to go in the first quarter. But with 2:36 to go in the first quarter, Zach Threlkeld connected with Heath Norman on an 80 yard bomb to put the Gators ahead 7-3. This long touchdown pass would be a sign of things to come for the Gators.

With 5:59 left in the second quarter, Threlkeld this time connected with Pablo Sanchez on a 16 yard touchdown pass. The extra point was no good. Benjamin didn't answer though. The Bucs scored a touchdown with 1:18 left in the second to narrow their deficit to 13-10. But with four seconds left until halftime, Threlkeld this time hit Lee Sweet on a 20 yard touchdown pass to put the Gators up 20-10 at halftime.

Threlkeld wasn't done tearing apart the Buccaneer secondary just yet. This time he found Norman again on a 24 yard touchdown pass with 5:11 left to go in the third quarter. The Gators were now up 26-10.

It wasn't just the passing game that was working for the Gators last Friday. Sweet scored on a 12 yard touchdown run with 2:40 to go in the third quarter to put the Gators up 33-10. Sweet ended the night with 127 yards rushing on 18 carries and two touchdowns.

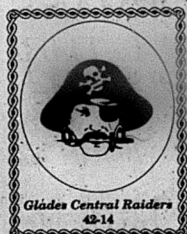

But it was the passing game that was more effective for the Gators. Threlkeld threw his fifth touchdown pass of the night to Sanchez on a 43 yard pass with 5:14 left to go in the fourth quarter. The Bucs would score another touchdown, but it proved inconsequential. Gators 40, Bucs 17.

Threlkeld ended the night completing 10 of 15 passes for 263 yards and five touchdowns with two interceptions. Norman caught six passes for 150 yards and two touchdowns. The Gators put up over 400 yards of offense despite having 100 yards in penalties.

Next week, the Gators travel to central Florida to play Frostproof in a non-district game.

"Big A" has fun with Pigskin Predictions

"Big A" Adrien Vereen, at Glades Ford, Lincoln, Mercury in Belle Glade LOVES Pigskin Predictions. He started asking in late summer how soon the game would start and he was one of our first players to sign up for the season.

"I enjoy making the picks and trying to win," he said. "I came in third place last year, but this year, I want first place!"

Big A has a nephew who plays for Glades Central, so he always picks the hometown teams to win. "My nephew, Dan Brown is #24 for Glades Central. He and my other nephew, DJuan, who also plays, help me with the picks," says Big A.

This week, Big A is tied with Vera Robinson of the Paint Store for first place. Both have a 9-1 standing. All of the other players are hot on the trail, though, with 8-2 standings.

It's early in the game, so let's watch who will come out ahead.

NFL teams and DOR kick off 'Don't Drop the Ball' Campaign

New child support initiative spotlights parental responsibility

Florida's three National Football League teams have joined with the Department of Revenue in a new statewide public education campaign on child support enforcement that emphasizes the importance of parents taking responsibility for their children.

The campaign features Miami Dolphins safety Michael Stewart, Tampa Bay Buccaneers head coach Tony Dungy, quarterback Casey Weldon and linebacker Hardy Nickerson; and Jacksonville Jaguars offensive lineman Brian DeMarco. The children of the players and coach also appear in the campaign, which will include statewide t.v. and radio public service announcements, billboards, posters and newspaper ads.

The "Don't Drop the Ball" campaign will run concurrently with the pro football season. It focuses on the responsibilities of being a parent and providing for one's children, including paying child support.

"Making sure our children get the financial support they need to grow and thrive is a community issue that can't be solved by government action," said Revenue Executive Director Larry Fuchs. "We are thrilled that Florida's pro football teams are willing to help focus public attention on this critical problem."

Dolphins player, Stewart, said he takes being a father seriously. "Parenthood is an awesome responsibility," Stewart said. "It's time for some parents to stop being absent in their child's life, emotionally, spiritually and financially. That's why I'm proud to be a part of the 'Don't Drop the Ball' campaign because its message emphasizes the importance of parents taking an active role in the support of their most precious gift—their child."

The "Don't Drop the Ball" campaign is the DOR's second statewide educational effort involving the Child Support Enforcement Program and members of the Florida Association of Broadcasters, the Florida Outdoor Advertising Association and the Florida Press Association. Last year the DOR launched a "Pay Up or Walk" campaign that informed the public of the state's ability to suspend a person's driver license if child support isn't paid.

Junior Varsity Gators crush the Benjamin Bucs 28-0

By Jeff Hawkins

The J.V. Gators football team hosted the Benjamin Buccaneers last Thursday night.

The Gator defense held the Bucs to 54 yards in total offense, -10 rushing and 64 passing.

Eric Prescott led the defense with seven tackles and two assists followed by B.J. Gregory and Robby Rotella which had five tackles each. Josh Crawford had two interceptions and a fumble recovery. Jimmy Dobson had four tackles, one assist, and an interception. Jake Davis also had an interception which denied the Bucs a chance to score.

Jimmy Dobson led the offense with 18 carries for 162 yards and three touchdowns. Tito Mirabal carried the ball seven times for 75 yards. James Holman had 46 yards on four carries and a touchdown. Kyle McNamara who is also the Gators quarterback added one PAT and made a field goal. The Gators beat the Bucs by a score of 28-0.

Tonight the Gators host the King's Academy Lions, home, at 7 p.m.

Gator fans come out and support your J.V. Gators.

Fishing with Walt Reynolds

With the temperatures we've had this week its hard to believe that we are now into the fall season. Maybe we will have some cooler weather soon.

The fishing is still quite slow. I have found that on Lake Okeechobee, it is often feast or famine during the fall season. The fish are in a transition period as they adjust to cooler water and moving bait fish. You may fish several days with little success and the next day, catch a load.

This is a good time to try a lot of patterns and different lures. Watch the weather conditions and pay attention to the water quality. With the lake being very dirty right now and very little grass left to clean it up, finding good clean water can be tough. The higher water level this summer and the non-stop spraying of the grass has certainly taken its toll on the lake.

When the bite is really slow, one bait I rely on to catch a fish is a Berkly Red-Shad Power worm. It is very soft with a very strong scent. It is hard to fish in heavy cover, but the fish seem to hold on real well when they bite. Also if the wind is blowing, try a small (1/4 ounce)

Walt Reynolds

Rattle Trap.

To all a good bite,
Walt Reynolds

Extra Clothes Save The Day

If you fish from a boat, especially from the front deck of a bass boat, the day will probably come when you will fall into the lake. Usually this happens during cold weather or early on a frosty morning. Don't let such a dunking ruin your day.

Carry a large plastic trash bag filled with a towel, sweatshirt, pants, socks, gloves and headgear. Get out of the wet clothes as quickly as possible and into the spares. You can even cut holes in the bag, and use it as a makeshift windbreaker.

A set of one-size-fits-all clothing is lightweight, takes up very little space and can be a life saver when you need them.

Handling A Dip Net

When there's money, or a trophy fish on the line, it's great to have someone in the boat who knows how to handle a dip net. It's always best to play your fish long enough to wear it down so as to avoid excessive thrashing near the boat.

If the fish appears to be hooked well, place the net in the water and lead the fish over it. Always try to get the fish in the net, head first. Keep the net close to the boat so as not to spook the fish until it is close enough to net. If a fish is not well hooked, the person with the net may have to go after the fish. Make sure you use a long handle whenever possible. Check the mesh periodically for rotting or holes. And always use a large enough net for the type of fish you are after.

561-996-4140 - Elementary

Established in 1965, Glades Day School is a private school that strives to prepare its students for productive lives by: 1) concentrating on the mastery of basic skills in the major academic areas; 2) offering a wide variety of enrichment courses and extracurricular activities; 3) and encouraging moral and spiritual development.

Glades Day School operates on two campuses, a 20-acre main campus, and a campus located one mile west from the main facility. The elementary school serves Pre-K through 6th grades on both campuses. The main campus also serves Grades 7-12.

Physical facilities on the main campus include 2 science laboratories, 2 computer laboratories in the high school and 1 in the elementary, a cafeteria/auditorium, band room, glee club room, gymnasium, athletic fields and elementary playground, and a gymnasium/auditorium.

The elementary curriculum encompasses the junior academic program as well as art, music, physical education, Spanish and computer skills. A Specific Learning Disabilities program for students diagnosed as SLD is also available.

A two-track program of studies is offered on the high school level; academic and advanced academic. While both tracks focus on teaching each student the essential skills in the core curriculum areas of language arts, mathematics, science and social studies, the advanced academic track also focuses on college preparatory classes. Enrichment programs are provided in computer science, foreign language, music (instrumental and vocal), and physical education.

With a football program second to none, the "Fighting Gators" can boast of 5 state championships, most recently the 1995 Class 2A Championship. Additional features that GDS offers include interscholastic athletics (basketball, volleyball, baseball, softball, tennis and golf) for boys and girls, Academic Games competition, marching and concert bands, Glee Club, a variety of clubs/organizations, lunch program and bus transportation.

Admission policies require a personal interview, transcripts, teacher recommendations, and test results. Financial aid is available in the form of tuition assistance.
